NEWS RELEASE

NRAI Launches Fully Integrated Service of Process and Entity Management Solution

NRAI continues to lead entity management services with this first-of-its-kind integration.

Princeton, NJ – September 7, 2010 – National Registered Agents, Inc., a premier provider of compliance and governance solutions, announced today that Entity Pro®, NRAI's entity management solution, is fully integrated with service of process data and documents. This allows NRAI customers to view not only their entity information such as directors/officers and ownership, but also their litigation data and documents associated with those entities, providing more insight to an entity's legal risk performance. The result is more accurate and up to date reporting and risk factor identification.

NRAI continues to lead the entity management industry with this first-of-its-kind integration. Now, NRAI customers have a more comprehensive view of their entity portfolio, allowing for more detailed entity performance reporting.

This legal services integration helps bridge the information gap between the corporate secretary and the litigation department within the General Counsel's office. Providing these two groups with integrated information across their entity portfolio will allow them to make more informed business decisions around litigation involving their entities and the effectiveness of their corporate structure.

"At NRAI, we continually drive innovation around the registered agent relationship with our customers, delivering increased value and client-focused solutions," said Dennis Howarth, CEO and President, National Registered Agents, Inc. "Entity Pro provides the General Counsel with a complete and comprehensive legal view of the business's entities."

This new level of integrated legal analysis around a company's corporate structure and entity portfolio will provide critical, real-time data to the General Counsel.
